Secretary of State's Office Moves to New Location on June 6, 2011

Montpelier, VT- Secretary of State Jim Condos announced today that the offices of the Secretary of State currently housed in the Redstone Building will be relocated to 128 State Street, effective June 6, 2011.

"The decision to move the office out of the Redstone building and into 128 State Street will ensure our services will be easily accessible to the public and to the legislature. We spend a great deal of time at the Statehouse during the legislative session, and being this close will allow for increased availability and accessibility" states Secretary Condos.

"We are also committed to being more accessible to the public—to our constituents—whether it is an individual seeking information, lobbyists looking to file their disclosure reports, or businesses needing to access our Corporations division, our new location is centrally located and it will be easy to stop in and utilize our services" adds Condos.

Condos went further, "It is especially important to me that the citizens of Vermont have open and easy access to their government, and I welcome folks to stop in and see out new space, meet our staff, and know that we are available and ready to respond to their needs with friendly, competent customer service, whether over the telephone or in person. We will be hosting an open house sometime in the near future for constituents, lawmakers, and businesses to see our new offices."

Jim Condos is Vermont's Secretary of State, after serving eight years as a Vermont Senator from Chittenden County, 18 years on South Burlington City Council and 30+ years of private sector business experience.
