Secretary of State Jim Condos Launches New Agency Website

Montpelier, VT – Secretary of State Jim Condos announced today the launch of a new agency website.

“The goal was to make it easier for the public to find the resources they need. I feel we have accomplished this by creating a website that is user friendly and intuitive.” stated Secretary Condos.

Condos noted that: “We have so much information that relates to entirely different topics and divisions within the Secretary of State’s Office – from how to register your trade name, to how to register a complaint against your dentist, to how to register to vote, to how to get an Apostille or Authentication. It was really important that we took the time and created a website that was simple to use and at the same time provides significant improvements to the accessibility of agency managed content.”

“Users should find the new website more flexible to their needs” added Condos, referring to the website’s ability to adapt to a variety of screen sizes. “It is ideal for those Vermonters at home on a PC and those on smart phones.”

“Really, what it all comes down to is transparency. My hope is that the new site will make more information more clearly accessible to Vermonters.”
